

CALL CONGRESS: Postal Workers Defended Democracy. Let's Defend the Post Office. Pass $25 billion. Stop Service Cuts.

During the election, postal workers made remarkable efforts to ensure vote-by-mail was a success. The Postal Service was key to safeguarding our democratic rights. But the Postal Service remains under serious threat.

The COVID-19 pandemic has thrown USPS's finances into a state of crisis. A sharp decline in revenue means the Post Office could run out of money, threatening the essential service postal workers proudly provide the country every day.

This summer, Postmaster General Louis DeJoy put in place policies that caused serious mail delays. While the public outcry forced DeJoy to temporarily "suspend" these cuts in advance of the election, he has promised to return to his policies. These cuts undermine the public confidence – currently 91% of the public approve of USPS – and drive away business.

In order to #SaveThePostOffice, we need everyone to demand their member of Congress:

- ✓ Pass $25 billion in emergency COVID relief for the USPS.
- ✓ Permanently reverse DeJoy's delays.

The public knows the Postal Service is essential in their lives. Postal workers are absolutely dedicated to providing prompt, reliable and efficient postal services through the pandemic and beyond. They defended our democratic rights, now we have to defend the post office.

CALL
Congress at 833-924-0085

Demand $25 billion for the Postal Service and a permanent reversal of DeJoy's cuts to service!
