

SUMMARY OF REGULATIONS GOVERNING COPA SOLICITATIONS

1. Solicitations for contributions to COPA, the APWU Committee on Political Action, may only be sent to people who are part of the APWU family.
 - This group, called our “restricted class” includes:
 - All APWU members and their families;
 - All APWU retiree members and their families; and
 - All APWU executive and administrative employees and their families.
 - “Solicitations” are broadly defined to include communications that encourage COPA contributions or provide detailed information about how to make them, in addition to outright appeals for donations.
 - This means that, if you use your local newsletter to solicit contributions, you should not send that issue to people outside our “restricted class.” Do not send those solicitations to other unions, public officials, or other people who might be on your mailing list.
 - This also means that union bulletin boards and web pages that are viewed by people who are not part of our “restricted class” may not be used for COPA solicitations.
 - Outside the “restricted class” it is permissible to:
 - Announce the existence of COPA and explain the legal requirements that apply to its activities;
 - Provide information about how much COPA has raised, the number of contributors, and the number of candidates supported; and
 - Identify federal candidates who have been supported by COPA, as long as the publication does not suggest that support for COPA would help elect or defeat those candidates.
2. The Hatch Act prohibits all “political activities” on postal premises. The U.S. Office of Special Counsel, which enforces the Hatch Act, has interpreted this to mean that COPA fundraising activities are not permitted on the workroom floor or in non-work areas, including steward rooms or union offices on postal premises.
3. All COPA solicitations, in publications or personal appeals, should be accompanied by a “disclaimer” to assure that all contributions are voluntary and that no favor will be bestowed or withheld as a result of a contribution or the failure to make a contribution. The following language, which is on the APWU COPA contribution form, should be reprinted in any publication or correspondence urging COPA contributions:

This COPA solicitation is paid for by the American Postal Workers Union, AFL- CIO, 1300 L St., N.W., Washington, D.C. (202) 842-4200; it is not authorized by any candidate or candidate's committee. Contributions or gifts to COPA are not deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes. COPA will use the contributions it receives for political purposes, including making contributions to candidates for federal, state and local offices, and addressing political issues of public importance. Contributions to COPA are voluntary. More or less than the suggested amount may be given, and the amount given or the refusal to give will not benefit or disadvantage the person being solicited. Federal law requires political action committees to report the name, mailing address, occupation, and employer for each individual whose contributions aggregate in excess of $200 in a calendar year.

4. Contributors should be asked to use the COPA contribution form. This will assist COPA in meeting its reporting requirements and will automatically provide contributors with the disclaimer language shown above.
5. Local unions, state organizations, and APWU auxiliaries may use treasury funds to urge members to contribute to COPA.

Union treasury fund expenditures should not amount to more than one third of the amount raised for COPA. For example, if a local purchases a prize for a COPA raffle, the cost of the prize may not exceed one-third of the amount raised for COPA. (If it does, COPA must return some of the money to the local.)

6. Fundraising efforts may include:
 - Personal appeals by union officers and stewards directed to APWU members (such as handing a member a COPA contribution form);
 - Articles in your local newsletter, including a COPA contribution form for use in sending contributions;
 - Direct mail appeals for contributions. (Include a COPA contribution form);
 - Raffles (must comply with state law);
 - Bake sales, rummage sales, and other similar activities.
